Why is housing cost high in Drayton?

To a newcomer, the most striking thing about Drayton Valley is not the miniature derricks in front of the Town Hall, but the cost of housing. And when it comes to housing in Drayton Valley, it does not matter whether one is a tenant or a homeowner. The price one pays is high.

Why are rents here higher than those in Edmonton? Some realtors agree that a house here costs more than a comparable house in Edmonton. Why is it so?

True, this is a free market place. No price is fair unless supply meets demand. And the demand for housing in Drayton Valley exceeds the supply. But are the people buying houses here at prices far above their realistic value because they work on the assumption that the town is booming and it pays to buy now?

In this case, the tragic-comedy is that the prospective home purchaser is not a speculator. He is not in business. He is willing to pay a phenomenal price because a booming environment fosters an attitude of confidence no economist can ever rationalize.

Buying the necessities of life today as a hedge against the inflation of tomorrow is the prevailing trend in the free world. But the need to do such buying assumes far greater importance in a boom town than it should.

Developers and contractors maintain the high cost of housing is due to the high cost of servicing residential lots and the unrealistic standards imposed by government.

Is it really necessary to have a lot with a 65-foot frontage? Developers often ask.

If it is so, will the sale of serviced lots at prices subsidized by municipalities lower the cost of housing? Not a bit. When there is such a sale, the speculators are always ready to buy on many lots as possible.

In the fiscal analysis, it is the mentality of people living in boom towns that has to be changed. They should try to think of their communities as stable and viable centres, not boom or bust places.

Councillor Alan Day's announcement in this edition that he will not seek re-election to Drayton Valley council is an event that should cause a lot of people thinking.

We all should consider our municipal representatives, both present and future.

We have one chance in three years to select our councillors, and that is just over six months away. Mr. Day and his colleagues are coming quickly to the end of their terms.

Who will run again? Who will run to join those who could go back—or maybe even to take their places?

Will you? Or could you encourage someone? Municipal politics in our region is responsibility for community service. It is almost a voluntary contribution; the power it offers is only a minor enticement.

For too long now they could earn elsewhere, councillors establish policy for the use of millions of dollars. They work their way to influence the development of their community. Most of the reaction they have is either demands for money or complaints about regulation.

It's no wonder then, that Mr. Day and others feel council both demanding and frustrating.

Council business is time-consuming. Meeting after meeting must be attended; progress must be followed; consensus must be reached; it's an inefficient system.

Building a work of the local level is the challenge. There is never enough money to do the things a community needs done for a municipality. People demand more than one has. Choices must be made.

Library dream can be realized

By Thomas Spence

Chairman, Drayton Valley Municipal Library Board
The Town of Drayton Valley is finally close to realizing a public library worthy of itself. Town council learned that by committing $8,000 towards the purchase of the J.J. Fitzgerald Building.

If this dream becomes a reality, then the Town will have a facility of which we can be proud.

Our present library is popular. In fact, it has 881 members. That is close to 50 per cent of Drayton Valley's population. And with more and more people moving and transferring here, I can see our membership expanding steadily.

The Fitzgerald Building is an ideal location for the library. It has the needed space. A library for a town the size of Drayton Valley needs approximately 15,000 square feet. We have 4,000 square feet. It needs 1,000 square feet of shelving space, 700 square feet of reader space, 800 square feet of work space, and 1,000 square feet of space for a meeting/display area.

The above figures are based on small town libraries in central Alberta. I'm sure that all of us have seen as well as other agricultural towns. The money is here.

A good library has materials needed by the community for knowledge, information, research and recreation. These have magazines, newspapers, maps and so on are organized for convenient use.

I believe a library gives guidance for educational, social and cultural organizations. A library can house and plan materials for programs, projects and community education.

I feel it can be used as a multi-cultural/historical centre and be relevant to advanced education.

A library must be accessible to all. By being located in the Fitzgerald Building it is just that. The library board extended the hours one-and-a-half years ago to meet the requirements of the Yellowhead Regional Library. We now need to expand from 800 square feet to 2,000 square feet to meet these requirements.

I believe a library should be accessible to students. Students need a place where they may do research and study in the evenings. The added 700 square feet of reader space will allow the library to service this large segment of our population. (Average age of Drayton Valley's population is 17.5 years.)

Cost is the major drawback to any project. The cost of the Fitzgerald Building is $20,000 before renovation.

Cost has been presented with a library planning brief to two separate occasions, once in 1977 and once in 1979. There has been little action. The Town could have purchased this building a few months ago at a lower price. If it waits longer, the price will undoubtedly rise as this is prime land.

Therefore contact your councillor or mayor to let council have your support.

The library has a building host. This fund has received the profits from two book sales and a children's flea festival. Unfortunately, we have to sell perfectly good books because of lack of space. A new library will enable us to build up a collection second to none.

Now that a goal has been set, the library board will attempt to raise major funds. The first priority step has been to apply for a 7th anniversary grant.

Shelving will be contacted and will be asked to donate both materials and money. I believe that major employers are responsible for the moral and cultural atmosphere of their town.

If housing developers pay for sewers and roadways, our major employers can certainly help develop a suitable intellectual climate for their employees to live in.

I believe the Drayton Valley Municipal Library's goal would be to assemble and preserve expanded collections. Books, historical articles and other materials for the community to use, to promote an enlightened citizenship and to enrich personal lives.

If the loans begin together perhaps we may have our 1979 library in 1985.

Junior B hockey league planned

Email Editor

Humorous hockey people around Central Alberta have indicated the desire to form a Central Alberta Junior "B" Hockey League.

This league would be a place to play for home brew players and strict rules would be employed to limit injuries and insure competition.

The first step will be to determine just how much interest there is in central Alberta. Interested people in various central Alberta communities are urged to write a letter indicating their desire to start a league.

By March 15, to Central Alberta Junior "B" Hockey League, Organization Committee, Box 347, Ponoka, Alta. T0X 1C0.

If enough interest is shown, a meeting will be called to continue with league organization.

Credit dilemma hurts small businesses

By Roger Worthing

For most consumers, financing is a relatively painless task.

With banks and financial institutions falling over each other to pick up customers, the availability of consumer credit for everything from new cars to antique reproductions is plentiful.

It's true, interest rates can be set on 18 per cent or higher, but the money is available for those willing to buy now, pay later.

Yet while Canadians can seemingly get so much money as they need to finance a meal, new $10,000 limit on a shortage of financing has suddenly become the number one problem for the people operating the country's small and medium-sized businesses.

Reviewpoint

This is the first memory I have ever had. I have no memory left. But I have a lot to do with the extent of that our Drayton Valley residents Gary Macdonald and W.J. Jones were baffled. Folk, it when they saw a light that appeared to be hovering over the Postage Boy area.

Although Mr. Macdonald did not suggest it was something extraordinary, he did say he had never seen such a light before.

The last witness said it looked like a light on an aircraft. And they were curious to know what it really was.

Now I can tell them that what they saw was an experiment conducted by two local residents. Of course, it wasn't an unidentified flying object (UFO).

Ray Stewart suggested to his friend Stan McKinley they should conduct an experiment based on the theory of hot air.

A simple experiment, it was. Mr. Stewart and Mr. McKinley brought with them 12 birthday candles, some balloons and a "dry cleaning bag" to a local spot in the northeast end of town.

The duo then stretched open the bag with both sticks. They lit the candles which they placed on the wind. They waited. And the experiment worked. The hot air soon sent the bag skyward.

From above, on the experiment was watched by Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Jones, saying that they were not aware of it.

When the candles ran out, the bag will come down. Mr. McKinley told us this week.

Reliable sources told us that Mr. McKinley was embarrassed when he read the Feb. 13 edition of the Western Review which reported on unusual occurrences sighted by Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Jones.

Mr. McKinley is not a prankster. His memory has to do with many Drayton Valley residents will start conducting the experiment which is, in a way, playing with fire.

I agree. But as I see it, this experiment is more than a fire hazard. The greater problem is that Drayton Valley may lose on influx of UFO followers who may be willing to go down on their hands and knees to kiss the ground and proclaim Drayton Valley the UFO capital of the world.

Special projects underway

Beautification Week declared

Parkland County Council has declared May 19 to 31 Home Beautification Week.

This declaration is to focus attention on aesthetic improvement of the rural community in the county.

Local newspaper publishers have agreed to prepare a special section of their regular editions featuring home beautification.

Numerous agencies and organizations have been or will be contacted for material to be included in this special section in the form of articles covering and giving advice on home and yard improvement.

Other organizations such as 4-H clubs, community leagues and county schools will be encouraged to undertake special projects in line with the home beautification theme.

All urban municipal councils within the county are encouraged to join county action week.

A joint declaration would not only legitimize the project for all the municipalities involved, but would also give the project a great deal of moral support, said agricultural spokesman, Don Black and District agricultural

Petition gets overwhelming response

The Alberta committee for the People to People Project for Canadian Unity says signed petitions are pouring into the Alberta Office by the hundreds each day.

In data more than 60,000 signatures have been collected. Campaign co-ordinator Don Eiderstedt states this indicates Albertans do care about Canadian unity.

The Alberta campaign will close on March 15. However, signed petitions will be accepted until the end of the province's 75th birthday.

More than a million phone books will be produced and distributed by AGT this year. Many directories are sent out of province to other telephone companies in the North America and an special order, ranging from individuals to embassies, in many parts of the world.

The cover will grant 17 distinct AGT telephone directories beginning with a directory distributed this month to several communities around Edmonton.

The unique portrayal is one of the Alberta 75th Anniversary Committee's efforts to bring awareness of the province's great past to Albertans.

The outside back page of March. These can be mailed to campaign headquarters, left at banks, Treasury Branches or small stores where utility bills are paid, or at any office of the line participating utility companies.

Signed and endorsed petitions from all across Canada will be presented to the people of Quebec in late April or early May, just before the referendum.

It is hoped that a representative group of Albertans will travel to Quebec with representation of other provinces.

Petitions have been circulated through various service organizations, schools, churches and businesses.

Four Alberta utility companies: Alberta Power,

Northwestern Utilities, Canadian Western Natural Gas, and Calgary Power, have distributed copies of the petition with their utility bills.

Legislature report

Minister advocates seat belt law

By Geoff White and Kevin Peterson

Transportation minister Harry Kroeger is pushing hard to have compulsory seat belt legislation introduced in the spring session of the legislature.

Kroeger, who has advocated a mandatory seat belt law since taking on the transportation portfolio last year, is trying to persuade the government to hold a free vote on a seat belt bill.

The Conservative reason "to split right down the middle" even the issue, with about half its ranks opposing compulsory seat belts would be an infringement of individual freedom.

But Kroeger is firmly committed to the concept, and is an effort to change his colleagues' minds he's been expounding there in, those produced by his department, showing the dire consequences to passengers caught without seat belts in traffic accidents.

Kroeger says a seat belt bill could be introduced by either the government or a private member.

But if a free vote is held, a private members' bill is more likely as it would free cabinet ministers to vote according to conscience. With a government-sponsored bill, ministers would be under pressure to support it or resign.

Alberta and Manitoba are one of the provinces west of the Maritimes that do not have mandatory seat belt legislation.

And Kroeger and officials in his department are now aware that the results of studies in Saskatchewan and Ontario to show that the buck-up laws have been effective.

Injuries dropped some 50 per cent in Saskatchewan in the year after seat belt legislation was enacted. And deaths in traffic smash-ups dropped by nearly 30 per cent.

Even better results were achieved in Ontario where seat belts were made compulsory at the same time as the province's speed limit was reduced.

"Seat belts work. And legislation works," says Kroeger, "and one to make sure."

"That one person being convinced doesn't make it possible to carry it over 100,000."

The minister says that talk is useless unless the issue is easy. But he says now the challenge is to defend their views in open debate on the floor of the assembly.

If a free vote is held in the legislature, it will be the first for the Legislature government. It will also be one of the very first in this Conservative-dominated legislature that the results of a vote will not be predetermined.

But it is yet to be seen whether Premier Peter Lougheed and his cabinet are prepared to let the assembly decide. They come some to verbal blows over the seat belt issue.

Commissioner investigates complaints

Joseph D. Gorman, the commissioner of Canada Elections, is supervising a central office staff in Ottawa and 18 representative major cities across the country in the monitoring of election campaigns and in preventing complaints.

The Commissioner, under the supervision of the Chief Electoral Officer, is empowered to investigate alleged breaches of the Canada Election Act and to authorize the laying of charges in the courts.

"It is our policy to investigate all legitimate complaints as quickly as possible," Mr. Gorman says. "However, charges are laid only in those cases where evidence presented a prima facie case that is, where there is a strong presumption that a law has been broken."

Aside from failure to file returns, there were 38 complaints made to the commissioner during the election. All were investigated and in 28 cases, the evidence uncovered justified the laying of charges. 54 of these are already before the courts.

A total of 1,427 candidates contested the last federal general election in May, 1979 involving three who withdrew. Of the total, 80 candidates failed to file an account of their expenses and contributions within a four-month period after the

FABRIC TIPS

CARE OF LEATHER JACKETS

Don't forget to take care of your leather and suede garments before storing for winter months. A few minutes' extra caring for them now will preserve their beauty.

Do not allow a leather garment to become overexposed. Most people have a tendency to wear light-colored garments for too long before cleaning, which creates heavy ingrained soil. Remember, age sets upon and stains, especially during the warm weather storage. Garments should be cleaned by a professional leather and suede cleaner.

Avoid storing in areas of extreme temperature, dampness or dryness. Don't store in plastic bags; leather will be able to breathe. Store in a cool, ventilated closet on the proper hanger or professionally store.

Wet garments should be allowed to dry out naturally. Do not put the garment near heat.

By Brian Bentley

On Feb. 26 a group of students went to Lake Eden for skiing after school. Skiing conditions were good. Principal A.C. Fay also skied, fell down and broken himself.

The school welcomed another new student for this semester. She is Linda Fox, and is registered in Grade 11.

There is a possibility of a Driver Education program being conducted at the school. Two parents, Mrs. J. Wilkie and Mr. J. Donaldson, met with the principal, Mr. Fay on March 4 to discuss further the possibility of such a course.

Team advances to zones

By Dorothy Gurnison

The Breton Junior High School boys' basketball team defeated Wildfield in a two-game round-robin playoff in its first bid for a spot in the Central East Alberta Schools' Athletic Association zone tournament on March 7 and 8.

Breton won the first game by 17 points and lost the second game at Wildfield by three points.

Breton's first stringer, Gary Nelson, was injured in the opening five minutes at Wildfield and did not play the game. Members of the team include Wayne Brown, Carl Larson, Keith MacDonald, Ken Jackson, Tim Ellis, Ron Ross, Wade Friesen, Paul Wrayn and David Hagen.

Breton completed against 4 districts to see the boys' basketball and baby girls' play.

The elementary school held a winter carnival from Feb. 28 to 29. The events ranged from noon hour hockey games to tag games to relay races. The children had a lot of fun, and the school was very busy.

A great meeting was held by the committee to begin preparations for the 90th.

Plans are well under way. Progress is good, and the first set of pages have been submitted to the publisher.

A regular year book meeting was held on Feb. 21.

The Breton Beach High School held its meeting on Feb. 21. They discussed a variety of matters. Guest speaker was J.E. Langford, supervisor of schools for the County of Parkland.

His topic was "The Advisory Committee." This is at the school level. A considerable amount of interest was generated.

Thinking Day service held

By Mary Manning

Some 100 persons attended the second annual Thinking Day service held in the Evansburg Legion hall on Feb. 22.

This service is held annually by Girl Guides and Boy Scouts to celebrate the joint birthday of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, founders of Scouting and Guiding. Participants in the service were the First District Guides with their leaders, Donna Mae Mitchell and Ruth Hillis; the Girl Scouts with their leaders, Brown Owl Pat Brydson and Tawny Owl Janice McGinnis; the Second District Guides with their leaders, Diane Jendricks, the Wildwood Brownies with leaders, Brown Owl Heather Lacombe and Tawny Owl Mary Anderson; the Wildwood Scouts with their leader, Roger Lacombe; and the Wildwood Cubs with their leaders, Margaret Anderson and Ellen Viator.

Statues commemorate Alberta history makers

In commemoration of Princess Louise and Chief Crowfoot, two life-size bronze statues are being commissioned by Alberta Culture on behalf of the Alberta 75th Anniversary Committee.

Though sculptors and foundries have not yet been selected, the bronze are expected to be completed by 1981. They will be displayed in the rotunda of the Legislative Building in Edmonton.

Both Chief Crowfoot and Princess Louise are important persons in Alberta's history.

When Crowfoot became chief of the Blackfoot tribe in 1869, his once-powerful people were being decimated by the whisky trade.

Crowfoot's co-operation enabled Major Macleod of the North West Mounted Police to quell the whisky peddlers and bring some sense of law and order to the lawless west.

In the eyes of the white settlers, Crowfoot's hand-gained him the reputation of the Blackfoot Confederacy.

As the buffalo herds dwindled, Crowfoot's concern for the future of his tribe grew. Weighing the odds of an against the seeming inevitability of the white presence on the prairie, Crowfoot led the Blackfoot Confederacy in signing Treaty No. 7 in 1877 which surrendered land in southern Alberta and British Columbia in return for government money to the Confederacy.

An diplomat and tribal leader, Crowfoot was instrumental in making the white settlement of the Canadian prairies more peaceful than the lawless exploitation that had occurred on the American frontier.

Princess Louise Caroline Alberta, fourth daughter of Queen Victoria, with her many historical ties to the Canadian west. An accomplished sculptress, Princess Louise accompanied her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, to Canada after the death of the Blackfoot Confederacy.

Girls' basketball

FMHS is venue for championships

By Sherry Blain

Frank Maddock High School (FMHS) will be the venue of the 24 team basketball championships on Friday.

Four girls' teams and four boys' teams from each of the four main conferences will vie for the right to advance to the provincial playoffs.

The single elimination championships begin at 10 a.m. with the west and north conferences girls' semi-final, followed by the boys' semi-final at 11:45 a.m.

The central and Strathcona conferences will meet at 1:30 p.m. for the girls and 2:15 p.m. for the boys.

The girls' final is scheduled for 4:15 p.m. and the boys' for 7:15 p.m.

The FMHS stage band will be performing at half time during the games, and a performing arts group will entertain with jazz and contemporary numbers after each girls' game.

The winning girls' team will advance to the provincials in Calgary, while the boys' winner advances to next week in Calgary. The provincial is Sherwood Park in two weeks.

Girls' teams scheduled to participate are: Drayton Valley representing the west conference, Harbord of the north conference, St. Albert of the central conference, and Fort Saskatchewan of the Strathcona conference.

Boys' teams will be Blinley representing the west conference, Harbord for the north, Blinley St. Albert for the central, and Archbishop Jordan for the Strathcona conference.

Drayton Valley coach Dave Schweitzer says the competition, which is open to the public, should be "excellent. It's the best accumulation of boys' and girls' teams we've ever had here."

Many of the players are very tall, so there'll be "plenty of height, and plenty of good skill and good systems—it'll be all around good basketball."

Ship Harriet Reeves and second Gloria Plankin of Drayton Valley plan their strategy during a third event game Sunday at the ladies' open bonspiel.

Flyers to meet Cougars in playoffs

Provincial playoffs in the Yukon-Edmonton league will commence Thursday, when the Edmonton Cougars arrive in Drayton Valley to play the Flyers.

Couch says

St. Anthony's girls can remain champs

Can they do it again?

That's what coach Cindy Smith wants to know of her St. Anthony's girls' basketball team.

Last year, the girls' team won the County of Parkland tournament, which is considered the "big one," and Smith thinks this year's team may give a repeat performance on March 22. "I think they should be able to," she says.

Couch Smith has reasons to be optimistic, since her team is currently undefeated in senior high school league play in the area.

As well, the team just won an invitational tournament Monday in Ponoka, while the boys' team tied for second in their division.

The girls' team won all of its three games played, defeating Westlock 29-17 and Whitecourt 22-1 to advance to the finals and encounter Wetaskiwin 41-0.

Top players for St. Anthony's were Connie Lohme, Connie Rouds, Carolyn Wanda, Debbie Vanderbrink and Sharon Rouds.

There were five of the better players, but "every body played well," in the team's first tournament of the year, says Smith.

High school curling

FMHS girls have chance to win provincial

By Sherry Kibbe

Gordon MacLach says his Frank MacLach High School girls' curling team has a "pretty decent chance" of winning the provincial high school championships this weekend in Vegreville.

The girls are "very efficient curlers," who have "terrible" team spirit, "they're always in the game."

Couch MacLach says it was the attitude that enabled skip Bonnie Wilkie, third Corinne Sells, second Heather Brown, and lead Christine Tremblay to win the North Central Alberta School Athletic Association (NCAA) playoffs held Feb. 22 to 24.

Although the girls had lost their first game against Fort Saskatchewan, coming back to sweep into the B division, they came back to win six straight against such "top teams" as Macleod, Hinton and St. Albert.

There was little "really good competition," says MacLach.

The boys' team, which also participated in the zone playoffs, did not fare so well, losing two games.

The boys' team consists of skip Ryan Markham, third Chris Tucker, second Bob Henry, and Jim Redgrave, and spare Aaron Hoffmann.

Winter Games

Solidarity of purpose achieved

The dust has settled. The showing has died. The 1980 Alberta Winter Games are over.

Eight per cent of the 2,200 Games' competitors took home gold medals.

One hundred per cent of the participants have gone home winners.

Athletes and artists who were involved in the Games Feb. 28, 29 and March 1 in Grande Prairie are part of a winning team striving for a common goal—peace at home.

They came to the Water Games in Grande Prairie from small towns, athletic clubs and schools. They represented age groups from 12 to 64 and competed in nine teams.

Above all they represented a winning team of athletes, who in heretofore determined to effort and optimism to their future.

Figure and pride in being who they are and where they live are inspired in athletes in Games held throughout the province since 1975.

Post best competition in Grande Prairie (1974), Red Deer (1975 and 1977), Inuit (1978), Medicine Hat (1979) and St. Albert (1979).

The 1980 Summer Games will be held in Lethbridge, followed in 1982 by the Water Games in Lethbridge.

Nearly 2,000 Grande Prairie volunteers worked to make the 1980 Winter Games possible. As a result, participation doubled as compared to the 1976 Winter Games.

The Water Games have left Grande Prairie with a stronger sense of community, a place in the provincial spotlight and a financial legacy of $150,000.

Most Alberta Games' competitors have never been involved in provincial or national competitions and it's estimated that more than 70 per cent of the competitors in Grande Prairie have never seen the northern city before.

Grande Prairie Mayor Alvin Rasmussen says the Alberta Games has "brought people together from all walks of life and all ages, in solidarity of purpose."

"We have always had a sense of togetherness here, but the spirit of the Games has demonstrated unequivocally that where there's a will there's a way."

More than 2,200 Games' participants and 22,000 Grande Prairie residents proved that last weekend at the 1980 Alberta Winter Games.

Love and travel is Canada's high Arctic with the back and experience few have had this season.

There are 14,000 people in one of the hardest and most demanding environments on earth.

If you're got the money, the luck, the time and the spirit, this adventure awaits you in the north.

Diabetic runner to raise funds for research

Run For Your Life is the theme and message of the March fund raising campaign conducted by the Diabetic Association of Canada.

It refers to the participation of Alan Parker, an amateur sportsman and a diabetic who will run in the Boston Marathon on April 12.

Last year the 32-year-old Manitoba raised more than $40,000 for the Manitoba division of the CDA by completing the 26.2-mile Boston Marathon.

Running a marathon is demanding for anyone, but a diabetic must also guard against a small blood sugar level and low energy levels.

Diabetes is a chronic condition in which either the pancreas does not produce enough insulin or the body is not able to use the insulin that is produced.

Without insulin, glucose from the sugar and starch in food is not absorbed in the blood until some of the surplus is eliminated by the kidneys and passed off in the urine. Hence, sugar in the urine and low energy levels in the blood are signs of diabetes.

The use of insulin has prevented the diabetic's threat of which is in March. Diabetes affects about 12 million Canadians or five per cent of the population. It is a chronic condition which prevents a diabetic from leading a normal life.

After the 1979 Marathon, Alan ran in the Winnipeg and Toronto marathons.

This year he will represent the national Canadian Diabetes Association in the 1980 Boston Marathon.

More than nine million people are living with diabetes in Canada. The Association is only able to supply about a quarter of the insulin required.

The 1980 nationwide campaign is being held to raise funds for research, and for the educational services offered by the CDA.

A non-profit volunteer organization formed in 1953, largely through the efforts of Dr. Charles H. Best, co-discoverer of insulin, the CDA has 98 branches in nine provinces. Quebec has its own organization, conducted entirely by French.

The CDA has 12,000 members, most of whom are diabetics or have a diabetic relative. Membership also includes about 800 health professionals concerned with diabetes or the care of diabetics.

Sometimes a great notion needs help getting in motion.

Program will make a contribution towards goals at the level of the provincial government. In addition, the Program contributes employee benefits and up to $20,000 per person per week to cover project overhead costs.

Where do you go from here? Information and project proposal application forms are available at Canada Employment Centres or Employment Development Branch offices.

Deadline for project proposals is March 28. To receive financial assistance to hire students, proposals must be submitted (postmarked) no later than March 28. Of course, it is in your organization's advantage to submit its application as early as possible, but March 28 is the final deadline. Now is the time to get that summer project off the ground.

Does your organization qualify? Established, non-profit organizations and local governments may qualify to receive financial assistance to hire students.

What projects should you consider? To qualify, projects should employ at least three students for six to 10 weeks between the 5th of May and the 5th of September. Proposals must be of benefit to students participants and should be of lasting value to the community.

What students will be employed? Post-secondary or secondary students wishing to return to school in the fall who are Canadian citizens or permanent residents are eligible. The summer Youth Employment
